COLONEL WEBBER AND LIGHT POSTS

Makes Clear and Forcible Explanation Concerning Method of Illumination.

ASKS FOR SUPERIOR POSTS.

Cannot Understand Why Cheap Gas Pipes Should be Preferred-Read What He Says.

A representative of the "News" interviewed Col. Webber of Z. C. M. I. today in regard to an article in a morning paper, which purported to contain the views and expressions of the city engineer regarding the proposed plan for illuminating upper Main street. Col. Webber said:

"I hardly believe that Mr. Kelsey can have been correctly quoted, because the insinuations made are so glaringly untrue that only the grossest kind of injustice could have prompted them. The facts are: Early in the year the directors of Z. C. M. I. authorized me to investigate the matter of better lighting the front of our store, realizing that it would add to the beauty of this part of Main street. We concluded to place in front of our store a row of handsome cluster lights, mounted upon posts of artistic design, and accordingly corresponded with foundries east, obtaining a large number of designs, from which we selected one which we think is handsome and in good taste, as well as durable. "We also consulted local foundries and found that they could do fully as well as the eastern, both as regards workmanship and price: A pattern would have to be made here and at considerable cost; consequently the price of each post would depend upon the number ordered, and as it was most desirable to have the entire block uniformly lighted, we invited property owners to join us showing them the instinuations made are so glaringly undesirable to have the entire block uniformly lighted, we invited property owners to join us, showing them the prices we had obtained both as to the posts and their installation. We also obtained a flat rate from the Utah Light & Railway Co., for supplying light, and I am pleased to say, that all but one of the property owners along the block joined us in the movement.

Further than this we have absolutely no interests in the matter, and should permission be granted to erect these posts, we shall order the num-ber we require and will leave it to the foundry company to solicit the orders of other property owners, as well as leaving it to them to say by whom the posts shall be wired and erected.

leaving it to them to say by whom the posts shall be wired and erected.

"With others we then applied to the city council for permission to erect these posts, and maintain them at our own expense during the pleasure of the council. This petition met with vigorous opposition from some of the members, as well as the city engineer. The latter had prepared a plan for the uniform lighting of the streets all over the business portion of the city. The post he has adopted is made of wrought from pipe, plain looking, and consequently cheaper than the one we propose. The distance, too, at which we intended to place our posts, was strongly objected to. In order to apportion the posts equally and equitably between the several buildings along the block, we found that 33 feet would be about right, but some members of the council thought this distance entirely too close, and because the city of Los Angeles has a uniform post on some of its streets, about 160 feet apart, therefore this city must adopt a similar arrangement, but at a greater distance apart, contrary to all rules for effective lighting. The reat a greater distance apart, contrary to all rules for effective lighting. The result, naturally, would be an uneven distribution of light, brilliant in spots, dim in others, while all the property owners would be taxed alike both as to installation and maintenance.

"The discussion in the city council has at times been very animated.

"The discussion in the city council has at times been very animated. Some members seem to think that every post must look exactly alike. "I have been in many important cities in this country and Europe, and have noticed, that large and handsome buildings, hotels, theaters, banks and public buildings would provide handsome and elaborate lamp posts outside their edifices, often designed with special regard to the architecture of the building. The city governments outside their edifices, often designed with special regard to the architecture of the building. The city governments seemed to have no objection to property owners spending large sums in thus beautifying their city, and I cannot for the life of me see why our city government should wish to force a homely gas-pipe lamp post upon the property owners, when the latter are ready, willing and anxious to furnish a better one themselves. Further, if any property owner should prefer to light with gas, I think that, too, should be permitted.

"The Utah Light & Ry. Co. is going to erect trolley poles 115 feet apart, and are said to have adopted the city engineer's design. We are perfectly willing to have the street car people erect the wrought iron trolly poles and place a cluster light around each, if we may be permitted to place two lamp posts between each, which would give a uniform distance of 33 feet between posts. The council granted this request last Monday evening, but one of the councilmen gave notice of reconsideration—so there the matter now stands."

CAMERA CONVENTION.

Interesting Lectures Are a Feature of The Photographers' Congress.

The photographers' convention being concluded this afternoon, after a successful three days session, in C. R. Savage's art gallery in this city. Visiting photographers from Utah, Wyoming, Idaho, Montana and Nevada have been in attendance, and the expositions of the four experts from Rochester, N. Y. with constant practical demonstrations have been listened to with the deepest interest. Many valuable developments in photographic art have been brought out by eastern artists in the last year, some of them hardly short of the marvelous; and while Salt Lake photographers have in most respects kept abreast of the times, there are points in the finer lines of the profession that necessarily escaped notice at this distance from centers of constant investigation and experiment, points which local photographers are very glad to learn, and which will prove invaluable in raising the standards of perfection. So the vist of these eastern experts, men recognized as at the head of the class in their profession, marks a decided step in advance in western photography. Delegates to the convention have noted the light attendance from the craft in Salt Lake, and remark that those who failed to avail themselves of the opportunity have Savage's art gallery in this city.

There are many points in developing photographs that are susceptible of improvement. These have been brought out in the demonstrations, as for instance, this illustration, viz., the addition of a little bicarbonate of soda to the hyposulphile bath to ensure even results in a series of operations. Then, valuable advice was given in handling various kinds of paper stock, and a circular frame was exhibited within which was placed an arc lamp by whose light photographs are printed without regard to the sun or any kind of daylight. In connection, the convention was informed that in not use eastern galleries now, pictures are taken at all times of the day and night, by an arc lamp of 28 amperes. In fact, the lamp has been used throughout the sessions of the convention, as preferable to natural light, the constant, unvarying quality and quantity being more satisfactory than the varying daylight. Special attention has been given to the most advantageous posing of sitters. Many photographers will hustle patrons into the chair, and turn the camera loose on them with little regard for satisfactory results. The visiting experts will stand a subfret in different positions in grade of light and shade, studying how the subject may be set off to the best advantage in light and shade. As the members of the convention offer suggestions and ask questions in connection, the result of this photographic clinic is ideal pictures.

Two Alleged Holdups Bound Over to The District Court.

At the conclusion of the preliminary hearing of Michael McCabe and Wilhearing of Michael McCabe and William J. O'Leary yesterday afternoon, Judge Diehl bound the men over to the district court and fixed their bonds at $500 each. The men are soldiers from Ft. Douglas, and were charged with robbing Harold Berrum of $75 on the night of Feb. 27. The robbery occurred at the corner of Fourth South and Tenth East streets. Mr. Berrum was severely beaten up by the hold-ups and lost six teeth in the struggle, and his face presents a very sad spectacle. He positively identified the soldiers as his assailants and they were bound over his assailants and they were bound over to the district court. Wife of Principal of the Jackson School Regains Her Freedom.

FOR FAILURE TO SUPPORT.

Judge Armstrong Grants Decree Giving Plaintiff $75 Costs and Restoring Her Maiden Name.

Upon the ground of failure to support Judge Armstrong today granted Ciella McCready Nelson a divorce from David A. Nelson, principal of the Jackson school. The case was decidedly sensational, as Mrs. Nelson in her original complaint charged her husband with numerous instances of cruelty beginning on their wedding tour in Portland in August, 1908. At the conclusion of the evidence the case was taken under advisement by Judge Armstrong until this morning. The decree was rendered on an amended complaint which the court permitted the attorney for Mrs. Nelson to file today and which simply charged failure to support. The attorneys for defendant consented to a decree being rendered on that ground without any further evidence or arguwithout any further evidence or argu-

The decree awards Mrs. Nelson her costs, amounting to $75, and also the restoration of her maiden name, Clella A. McCready. It is further decreed that the plaintiff shall have no right, title or interest in the property of Principal Nelson.

STORY OF THE RIFT.

The parties were married in this city on July 18, 1906, and went to Portland on a wedding tour. While there she testified at the trial that her husband treated her very indifferently and called her a "grafter" and said that all she was good for was to spend his money. Soon after their return to this city she claimed that he insulted her mother and called her "an old hag." He then left her and went to the Wilson hotel to live. They settled that difficulty and went to live together again but she claimed that his treatment of her did not improve and on one cold night in October he refused to sleep with her and took nearly all the bedclothes off of ner and she was compelled to get up and dress in order to keep warm. He again left her and she then went to her mother's home and stayed. The parties were married in this city owing to the prominence of the par-ties in the social world the case cre-ated somewhat of a sensation and has been closely followed. Its termination will afford another opportunity for gos-sip among society folks.

SECOND SUIT FILED.

Delia Robertson Apparently Anxious To Secure a Divorce From Convict.

From all indications Delia Robertson is very anxious to secure a divorce from Robert Robertson and to that end has filed two complaints for divorce against him in the district court. The first complaint was filed by Attys. Richards, Moffat, Porter & Ashton on March 5 and the second complaint was filed today by Atty. W. W. Ray. Both complaints state the same cause of action, namely, that the defendant had been convicted of a felony and is now serving a term of three years in the state prison for his offense.

The complaints allege that the parties were married in Sharon, Tenn., on Dec. 31, 1899, and have three children. Practically the only difference in the complaints is that in the one filed today Mrs. Robertson, in addition to asking for a divorce and the custody of the children, asks that her maiden name, Delia McCain, be restored to her. The outcome of both complaints will be watched with interest among the attorneys at any rate. From all indications Delia Robert

An action for divorce has been filed

An action for divorce has been filed in the district court by Edith C. Chilver against Charles J. Chilver on the ground on non-support. The parties were married at Windsor, Canada, on April 5, 1887, and have four children. It is alleged that for more than eight months the defendant has falled to support his family. Mrs. Chilver also asks for the custody of their children and for $200 as alimony.

Judge Armstrong has rendered judgment by default in favor of plaintiffs in the case of J. P. Jordan and John Hever against Baxter, Straw & Storrs Construction company, Amon O'-Hara and James Brennan for the sum of $1,081.47 and interest from Nov. 7, 1906. The action was brought to recover the sum named as a balance due plaintiffs on a contract for railroad construction work in Fremont county, Idaho.

Charlotte E. Hawkins et al., have filed suit in the district court against Joseph and John Cuthbert, if living, and, if dead, against their unknown heirs to correct a deed to lot 6, block II, plat B, Salt Lake City survey. The deed was executed by Joseph Cuthbert on Jan. 29, 1879, and the description was erroneous in that it described lot three instead of lot six, which was intended to be conveyed. That the description was erroneous is not questioned because of the fact that the Cuthberts owned lot six and did not own any part of lot 3. It is asked that the deed be corrected so as to describe lot six and that plaintiff's title to that lot be quieted. Charlotte E. Hawkins et al., have filed

Had I been so disposed there have been a number of incidents come up where I could have made thousands of dollars by using my information obtained in the office.
